$45 million area projects in hopper

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
Granite City and adjacent sectors of the Quad City area currently are involved in the most expansive series of public works improvements in recent history, with eight major projects now in the development stage or nearing completion. Eight other projects that would contribute to a new era of development—including plans to install sanitary sewers in the unincorporated areas of Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau townships at an estimated cost of $17 million—are in advanced planning stages. If all the current projects, those now under way and those for which funding and planning procedures have been instituted, were completed, their total construction cost would approximate $45 million.

Governmental and civic leaders emphasize, however, that the improvements cannot be measured in terms of dollars. Their value as a basis for future growth and development of the area through better highways, more public facilities and expanded services is unlimited, they say.

Already in progress in Granite City are three major projects involving construction of two new public buildings and the construction of a new highway that will skirt the eastern edge of the city and relieve to a great extent the growing traffic congestion in the Nameoki shopping area.

One of the new public buildings—a fire station built at Richmond Avenue and Johnson Road at a cost of $125,000—was occupied by firemen of the old Nameoki station only Friday. It was dedicated at a ceremony

3 stabbed, 5 hurt

Eight young persons were injured in two disturbances in or near taverns in the downtown Granite City area Saturday. A disturbance occurred at 1 a.m. Saturday inside the Top of the Barrel Restaurant, 19th Street and Delmar Avenue, and continued outside on the sidewalk. Five persons were injured in the disturbance, including one who was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital after having been struck on the head and face with a broken beer mug. Ronnie Williams, 19, of 1913 Joy Ave., suffered multiple cuts to his face, a slit to his chin and a jagged cut to the left side of his face when hit with a mug. Vernon D. Ryan, 22, of 4727 Warnock Ave., who allegedly struck him with the mug, was charged with aggravated battery and released after posting $100 bond. Also injured in the disturbance were Mike Few, 25, of East Lake Drive in Pontoon Beach, who suffered a cut elbow from a broken glass; David Brewer, 23, of 3120 Wayne Ave., whose glasses were broken and who suffered minor injuries; and Sam Demott, 22, of Granite City, who suffered a cut near his right eye. Police were called and reported finding a large gathering outside the DEBT-FREE RECREATION CENTER and ice rink in the northwestern area of Wilson Park. Retirement of its ten-year bond issue is ending Granite City Park District indebtedness.

Ice rink anniversary

The tenth anniversary of a Granite City Park District bond issue election to finance the Wilson Park ice rink-recreation center will be celebrated Saturday, Dec. 18, at the rink. A free skating session is scheduled for 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, and anniversary ceremonies will be conducted at 2:15 p.m.

The rink and year-round recreation center were the subject of a special election in the park district Dec. 18, 1966. The proposal carried by a large margin.

A $475,000 ten-year bond issue was authorized by voters, and the Park Board has approved a final payment of $61,125, making the district debt-free. In addition to the principal and interest, $65,000 has been spent during the past decade on rink equipment.

The roofed ice skating area was opened to the public on Oct. 27, 1967, and records show 356,494 tickets for skating have been sold.

Revenue from skating and concessions has totaled $732,245.

The original citizen steering committee that aided in planning the rink and encouraging public approval will be honored Saturday—C. E. Townsend, Ernest E. Veith, Henry D. Karandjeff, Carl E. Mathias, Melvin O. McKay, Nicholas Brink and Russell D. Johnson.

All are living except School Supt. Johnson, whose family will participate in the rink anniversary observance. Brink headed the committee.

Barry Loman, then president of the Park Board, also served on the steering committee.

Park commissioners and former commissioners to be honored for their roles related to the ice rink are Loman, Milton Worthen, Clarence Baumeyster, William Kozyak, Mayor Paul Schuler and Earl Bloomquist.

Harold Brown is the park district superintendent.

The 115x205-foot concrete surface that serves as the base for artificially-created ice and related use has a summertime seating capacity estimated at 3,500. The actual ice surface is 85x185 feet.

The temperature showed 138 degrees Thursday afternoon in the 1800 block of Delmar Avenue, adjacent to Christmas decorations spanning the street, visible in the background, and topcoat-clad shoppers. First Granite City Savings and Loan attributed the desert-like "heat" to a temporary malfunction in the sign, which should have read "38 degrees" Fahrenheit.

City-level 708 unit discussed

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

Mayor William M. Ebersoldt said Thursday evening he will call a meeting of area mayors to discuss funding policies of the Madison County 708 Board, and the possibility of organizing a local 708 board.

Under the Illinois Community Mental Health Act, House Bill 708, cities may form their own mental health boards, levy taxes and receive some taxes from the county, it was related.

Several city officials of Madison and Venice and board members of OATH, Inc. (Organization to Aid the Handicapped) met at the Venice City Hall to discuss the proposal Thursday evening.

The Madison County 708 board has stopped funding OATH in Madison. It was asserted. The OATH building on State Street formerly was leased to Specialized Services for a handicapped workshop. To explain details for possible formation of a local 708 board, Richard Lockhart of Chicago, a lobbyist of the Illinois Association for Mental Health, a private citizen group, was introduced.

Lockhart explained that the law allows forming a board with authority to levy taxes up to 15 cents per $100 assessed valuation, following passage of a referendum.

It was estimated by Venice Attorney Harry E. Hartman that assessed valuation is roughly $26 million in Venice and $17 million in Madison, which could mean an income of $43,000 to $45,000 a year on which to operate.

Richmond is guilty

After four and a half hours of deliberations, a jury in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville convicted Hubert David Richmond, 18, of 2137 Cleveland Blvd., of murder, burglary and arson. The verdict was announced at 3:50 p.m. Thursday. He is to be sentenced Jan. 14.

Richmond sat calmly as the jury foreman announced the verdicts, convicting him of breaking into the home of Miss Theresa Kichler, 78, of 2217 Grand Ave., Aug. 28, striking her with a blunt object and breaking her skull, and setting fire in two places in her home. Authorities said she died of smoke inhalation, but the broken skull, burns on 75 per cent of her body and dust from the fire in her lungs and breathing passages were contributing factors.

The case, which had continued for a full week, was turned over to the jury at 11:20 a.m. Thursday following closing summary statements and rebuttals by Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone and Defense Counsel Bill Lucco of the public defender's office. In his closing statement, Trone outlined what authorities believe happened in Miss Kichler's home early on the morning of Aug. 28, when Richmond allegedly placed a lawn chair under an unlocked kitchen window and climbed into the house.

Continue Festival

Steps to insure the continuation of the Mississippi River Festival (MRF) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were taken here Thursday afternoon by the SIU Board of Trustees.

The board approved support of the university to MRF, Inc., for a 1977 season and a long-range restructuring of the Festival as part of a year-round performing arts program under the direction of the School of Fine Arts and Communications.

On the recommendations of the faculty, chairman and dean of the School of Fine Arts and Communications and other university administrators, Andrew J. Kochman, professor of theater, was designated to coordinate the program for the school.

Dr. Kochman was acting president of the university from March 11 to Oct. 15 and formerly served as vice-president and provost.

The board also directed the university to prepare a detailed plan for implementing the 1977 River Festival season, including budget, program and administration, "with the un-

Broadcasting era launched in Illinois

98th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series

Broadcasting was conceived in Illinois in the years just prior to 1907.

Dr. Lee DeForest of Chicago invented the three-element (audion) tube permitting sound transmission through the air.

Radio broadcasting, television, sound motion pictures, radar and communications satellites were made possible as a result.

Illinoisans also played major roles in the development of broadcasting.

Chicago's station KYW went on the air in 1921, and dozens of stations opened throughout the state in the following years.

The practice of "remote pickups" began in 1925 when WGN set up its microphones in Dayton, Tenn., to broadcast the Scopes trial.

It featured William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow on the relative merits of the Book of Genesis and of evolution in explaining creation.

WGN, the first labor-owned radio station, began broadcasting in June 1926.

Edward R. Murrow once observed about radio that "this instrument can teach, it can illuminate; yes, it can even inspire."

"But it can do so only to the extent that humans are determined to use it to those ends."

"Otherwise, it is merely

A Gift for the CHILD

On that first Christmas, so long ago, came strangers bearing gifts for the wondrous Child. And thus began our warm tradition of holiday giving.

This year, we are trying to relive the spirit of that first Christmas. We have asked our employees to imagine the Christ Child has been born this Christmas. We asked them to present a Gift for the Child. A gift, created or bought, that shows the depth of their feeling at the coming of this miracle.

These gifts will be on display beneath our lobby Christmas tree. You will be surprised at the ingenuity, variety and exquisite beauty of their selections.

And, just in time for Christmas, these gifts will be distributed among the less fortunate children in the Tri-Cities by the Salvation Army.

And if you would like to submit a gift, we will display it underneath our tree as your token of the true revival of the holiday spirit.

Less speed—fewer accidents

"Those overworked adults 'skidded' or 'I couldn't stop' are poor excuses for accidents, according to Captain Albert J. Bertagnoli of the Illinois State Police district office at Maryville.

With few exceptions, he said, this type of accident is the direct result of driver error—generally "speed too fast for conditions."

"While there are exceptions such as mechanical failure, in the overwhelming majority of cases, a skid is brought on by the driver through over-braking, over-steering or over-powering," Captain Bertagnoli said.

"Similarly, failure to stop in time to avoid an accident is almost always the direct result of driving too fast for the available friction between the tires and the road surface."

Expressing concern about the sharp upsurge in skidding accidents during this time of year on snow or ice covered pavements, Captain Bertagnoli said that it is obvious that very few drivers recognize the extreme hazards involved in driving on these surfaces.

Tests by the National Safety Council's Committee on winter driving hazards have shown, for example, that the braking distance on glare ice may be as much as nine or ten times the normal dry pavement distance," he noted. As for what the average driver can do about driving on winter's snow and ice-slicked roads, Captain Bertagnoli said that the first and most important technique is to develop a sense of "feel" for the road surface so that you know at all times just how much traction is available.

"This sense of feel can be determined by gently trying the brakes or accelerating the engine momentarily to find out whether the wheels slip or spin," he explained. "If they do, slow down and do all steering, shifting and accelerating with a gentle, delicate touch."

Even with the help of traction aids such as snow tires, studs and chains, drivers should realize that far slower than normal speeds are essential when driving on snow and ice.

Kochman November building praised tops $1.3 million

Andrew J. Kochman, who served as acting president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville from March 11 to Oct. 18, was honored Thursday with a resolution of appreciation by the SIU Board of Trustees.

The board expressed its "profound gratitude and great appreciation" for his contribution to the welfare and progress of SIU and SIUE.

"In this difficult period (immediately following the death of President John S. Rendleman), Dr. Kochman energetically undertook the heavy responsibility of guiding the affairs of the university, acting with diligence and dedication to maintain the welfare of the institution and to advance the cause of higher education in Southern Illinois," the board resolution stated.

Germania Federal has the perfect retirement plan for people who are self-employed or not covered by an employer's plan.

A plan that's so simple you can set it up yourself. And lets you deduct your contributions to the plan—up to $1,500 per year—from your taxable income.

It's called an Individual Retirement Account, and you can open one at any Germania Federal office.

Eligibility has recently been reviewed and broadened to include members of the Armed Forces Reserves, National Guard, and volunteer fire departments.

While your money is in a Germania Federal Retirement Account, it earns interest, of course. Taxes on this interest are also deferred until retirement time, which is a further saving.

Recreation survey

If that Illinois camping trip your family takes 10 years from now is a success, you may have Stan Lieber to thank for planning ahead.

A Southern Illinois University at Carbondale geographer, he is directing the largest single state survey of public recreation needs ever conducted. The result, he says, could net Illinois up to $50 million in federal funds for planning and developing recreational facilities in the state.

By next summer, Lieber and a team of investigators hope to give state officials an accurate picture of Illinois' future recreation needs and what it will take to meet them.

A total of 10,000 householders—9,000 in Illinois and the remainder in bordering states—will have been surveyed by telephone by the end of January to find out where they have been going to spend their leisure time—Illinois or elsewhere—and why they have been going there.

They will be queried for information on such recreational activities as swimming, boating, hiking, bicycling, camping and off-road vehicle use.

The phone survey is being conducted by the SIUC Social Science Research Bureau under the direction of Roland Hawkes. Concurrently, 4,000 Illinois public and private recreational facilities will be surveyed by Dwight McCurdy, a forestry professor.

Once all facts are assembled, Lieber will analyze them and develop a comprehensive recreation plan covering the next 10 years. The entire project has been designed so that state and federal officials will be able to update it periodically.

"This is easily the most comprehensive survey of state recreation facilities ever conducted—both in terms of numbers surveyed and the information gathered," said Lieber.

"Most state surveys do not delve into the reasons people choose various locations and forms of recreation. We are going back four or five years to find out why people went where they did and what kinds of things they did while there," he added.

The survey also will provide background information on respondents—life style, social-economic characteristics, family size and makeup, and geographic location.

Of the 10,000 households surveyed, one-fifth will be in the metropolitan Chicago area. Approximately 800 will come from the Madison-St. Clair counties area and the remainder from throughout the state.

The project is funded by a $97,750 grant from the Illinois Department of Conservation, which will pass the information along to the federal Department of the Interior in hopes of qualifying for $10 million a year in federal planning and development funds over the next five years.

"A well-considered, comprehensive recreation plan incorporating accurate and up-to-date information will qualify Illinois for funding," Lieber said.

"We are confident our survey will result in data more accurate and far-reaching than any conducted to date anywhere.

"The data should give state and federal officials a head start in planning new recreation facilities and maintaining present facilities."

"We are faced with limited natural resources—not just in Illinois, but throughout the nation. Getting an accurate picture of how we can expect these resources to be used should lead to greater efficiency and effectiveness in planning and managing recreational resources."

'Hard times' on Christmas 1876

Illinois observed Christmas 1876 with some of the traditional customs dwindling and some new ones beginning to develop.

The big news, however, during December 10 years ago was the still-contested Presidential election which had been held Nov. 7.

The contested electoral votes totaled 20 from Louisiana, Florida, South Carolina and Oregon. These votes, which did, on March 2, 1877, give the victory to the Republican nominee, Ohio Governor Rutherford B. Hayes.

During December, there were congressional investigations, charges and counter charges.

While some Illinois newspapers varied the position and length of their coverage, the Daily Quincy Herald gave the first two or three columns on the front page to the subject almost every day.

Some of its one-line top headings read "Caesaram!" "Back Down!" "Infamy!" "Trouble!" and "Contempt!"

The Springfield State Journal on Dec. 15 reported there had been "rumors . . . in reference to an attempt to organize a semi-military, semi-revolutionary, and semi-treasonable scheme to prevent the inauguration of Gov. Hayes."

The same paper also quoted an 1865 Abraham Lincoln letter to support its opinions.

The Rock Island Daily Argus disputed a Chicago Tribune proposal that a new election be held in "the three carpet-bag states."

There were election disagreements all over the state.

In Quincy, after a particularly cold night, "the Circuit Clerk's office resolved itself into a sort of debating society."

Most of the debating was done by fellows who came in to warm.

"When the thing had gone about far enough, George Francis took out his brand new watch, announced that the time was up and adjourned the crowd until the next cold day."

Christmas in 1876 came on a Monday. Since most newspapers did not print Sunday editions, holiday publication varied widely. Some took both days off and some came out on Christmas Day but not on Dec. 26.

Churches were well filled on Christmas, and so were theaters and saloons.

The Inter-Ocean noted, however, that "attendance at the Adelphi was nothing extraordinary, as seen from the back of the parquet circle. But all the upper circles, up to the loft, were literally crammed, and by an audience which had evidently come there to get its money's worth." This it attributed to the current "hard times."

Those same "hard times" may have been responsible for the dearth of such gifts as gold watches and gold-headed canes from employees to their bosses, which had been reported in previous years.

Other signs of changing times were the popularity of roller-skating rinks in Springfield and Quincy and the curling matches of the "Scottish clans" at Chicago's Lincoln park.

A Christmas Day football game scheduled for the "22nd Street baseball grounds" was postponed when "the captain of the Chicago club took a look at the prospective field of action and found it icy and dangerous."

In December 1876 Cairo had "10 inches or more of snow" on the 28th, "a wagon heavily loaded with cordwood crossed (the Mississippi at Quincy) in safety" the next day; at Springfield the "ice crop is abundant and of good quality"; at Rock Island, "many of our wealthy citizens are cutting and packing their own ice this winter"; and on Dec. 21 a remarkable meteor "passed over central Illinois."

Church program aids elderly

The Senior Citizens Association of Tri-Cities (SCAT) sponsored by Tri-City Park Tabernacle, Maryville Road and Clark Avenue, will host a Christmas party for members and guests at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 19, according to the Rev. Clarence E. Barr, director of the organization. Citizens residing in the Quad-City area who are 55 years or over are eligible for membership in the newly-formed club, which is designed to offer special benefits to the older residents, Rev. Barr added. The purpose of SCAT is to promote cultural, spiritual, emotional and physical welfare of all senior citizens in the area. SCAT will provide information on such issues as housing, social security, Medicare, legal assistance, employment, health care and home maintenance. Creation of an Out-Reach Team is another part of the program. They will visit anyone who calls for counseling and to analyze the needs of the individual and try to arrive at a solution. In health related services, the organization will offer hot meals, bedside care, medical assistance and housekeeping and also will aid a member with minor repairs on the home.

SCAT has recreational activities planned such as shopping, scenic tours, camps, picnics, parties and meetings and an educational department with a craft shop to provide skill development in needle work, leather craft, macramé and ceramics, Rev. Barr reported. The director said the club also will assist those who desire full or part time jobs and also provide transportation and escort to doctor, hospital, attorney, church, parties, to vote and other transportation needs of the members. The entire concept of the organization is to give aid to senior citizens and also provide pleasant recreational programs as well as a gathering place to discuss, with each other, their problems and solutions, Rev. Barr added. Members of SCAT do not have to be members of the church. A holiday tea party was held at the church for the members, featuring Rep. Everett Steele as guest speaker and attracted 86 people. He spoke on the circuit breaker law and how senior citizens can benefit from the legislation, according to the director. The Rev. J. Albert Calaway, pastor of the church, and Rev.

Barr, extended an invitation to any interested resident to call the church office at 931-4500 for information or write the church for a brochure explaining the SCAT program.

Christmas dinner for Esther Class

Mrs. Helen Cook, 3111 Colgate Place, hosted the Esther Sunday School Class of Suburban Baptist Church at her home last week for a Christmas dinner party.

Holiday appointments were used by the hostess on the dinner table and about the room. Mrs. Cook serves as class teacher.

A brief business session was held and members elected to provide cash to purchase material for use at an area nursing home as its ongoing class project for the coming year.

Gifts were exchanged during the social hour.

Others attending were Mesdames Imogene Smith, Georgia Harlow, Ella Watts, Anna Knobloch, Edna Jackson, Evelyn Mohorn, Wanda Bradford, Ruth Goodman and Ruth Baker.

Mize-Johnson wedding at Trinity Methodist

Miss Kristie Marie Johnson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Johnson, 4557 Walter Ave., and Charles Steven Mize, a son of Charles Mize of Campbell, Mo., and Mrs. Melvin Mathias of Dover, Tenn., were united in marriage on Nov. 19 at Trinity United Methodist Church.

Bouquets of fall flowers decorated the altar and blue satin bows marked the pews for the double ring ceremony, performed at 6:30 p.m. by the Rev. Paul Bryant.

Organist Miss Beth Potillo accompanied Mrs. Louise Potillo, who sang, "Time in a Bottle" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal-length gown of white Chantilla lace over taffeta, designed with an Empire bodice and long tapered sleeves. Sequins and seed pearls trimmed the square neckline and the full, tiered skirt, extending into a chapel train.

She wore a Chantilla lace cap etched with pearls to secure her fingertip veil of bridal illusion and she carried a colonial bouquet of fall flowers.

Bridal attendants Mrs. Dianne Paschedag, Mrs. Becky Johnson, a sister-in-law of the bride and Miss Linda Mize, the groom's sister, selected identically styled pastel blue dresses.

Their gowns were fashioned with Empire bodices and high necklines, accented with dark blue velvet, and worn with short jackets with long sleeves.

Each attendant held a bouquet of yellow fall flowers intermingled with blue ribbons. Austin Caldwell attended the groom as best man. Stan Stauffer and Carole Brunett were groomsmen.

John McCord and Jeff Johnson, a brother of the bride, served as ushers.

A reception was held at the Polish Hall in Madison after the service.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Johnson wore a pink Quana Empire designed gown

South bows to Notre Dame, defeats West

GCHS South dropped a 51-48 decision at Quincy Notre Dame Friday night but then bounced back on the Warriors home court Saturday evening to beat Belleville West 49-42.

Now with a 6-2 record, Coach Don Deterding's cagers trailed the Maroons 8-4 but then led 23-18 and 37-30 at the quarters.

South and West each connected with 20 baskets, but the Warriors made nine charity tosses to West's two.

West committed the most fouls, 15-9. Both sides yielded possession of the ball on turnovers 17 times. West controlled the boards, 25-17.

The Warriors got off to a slow scoring start, failing to hit the net until after five minutes of the first period.

South's Terry Angle tied the score at 8-8 with back-to-back field goals in the opening minute of the second period and then added seven more points to help the Warriors to their halftime lead.

Maroon Brent Bayles narrowed South's margin to 36 in the final quarter with three straight baskets.

With 5:08 to play, the Warriors retaliated with two free throws from Dave Rhodes.

A layup by Bayles again closed the gap to one point with 3:35 to play, and a 20-foot jump shot by the West player put his team ahead 40-39 with 3:05 left.

Granite City went back on top 41-40 with 1:54 to play on a 15-foot jump shot from the left side of the basket by John Slay and then increased its lead with 53 seconds left on two charity tosses by Tom Henrich.

Maroon Terry Pabst pulled West within one with a 25-foot basket, and with 12 seconds to play Slay connected with back-to-back free throws for a 44-42 South lead.

Angle sank a free throw with nine seconds to play after a technical foul was called against West Coach Roger Mueller, followed by a three-point play by Tom Henrich on a basket and a foul three seconds later.

Angle totaled 26 points for South, picking up 10 of the points by tipping offensive rebounds. He pulled down 10 missed shots in the game.

To go with Angle's total, Slay had 12, Henrich seven and Terry Jones and Tim Anderson two each.

Three West players provided double-figure points — Andy Brown 12 and Pat and Ken Carmody 10 each.

The Warriors trailed the Quincy squad 16-14 at the first two quarters and then went ahead in the third period on a basket and a charity loss from Slay to eventually lead 46 going into the final period.

A strong defensive effort by the hosts held South to one point in the first five minutes of the last quarter while Quincy's Steve Shopp put 10 points through the hoop for a 46-41 lead.

The Warriors rallied with seven points but fell short as Notre Dame added five.

From the floor, South hit on 20 field goals and Quincy 22. South held an 8-7 edge from the foul line.

Slay and Rhodes each tallied 16 points, Angle 11, Henrich three and Jones two.

North outduels West, 2 others

GCHS North's Steeler wrestling team remains undefeated with seven wins against no losses after beating three area opponents at Collinsville Saturday afternoon.

North upended Edwardsville 54-6 and the host Kahoks 50-5 before edging Belleville West's strong Maroons 20-19.

As expected, the Maroon-Steeler match was a close one until North won four of the last five bouts.

Dave Harris gave the Maroons a short-lived lead with a 6-4 decision over Bob Kirgan (98 pounds), but Steeler Kris Whelan pinned Don Thompson (165) in 2:26.

West went back on top when North Dahm won 10-2 over Tracy Patton (112), but Keith Whelan topped Rich Hill (119) 4-0 and North had a 9-7 team lead.

Matt McCullough (126) added to the Steeler lead with a 4-2 decision over Jim Janick, but not before the Maroon matman provided the Steeler a scare.

McCullough scored first on a takedown in the first period, but Janick tied things with a 4-2 reversal midway in the second period.

With Janick on top in the final two minutes, McCullough fought for a reversal with a minute left for the win.

Rich Bade and Dave Muren tried to keep West in contention with point victories but Granite City flexed its muscles at the higher weights.

Steeler Steve Haefner (132) lost 7-3 and John Sands (138) lost 1-4 as West took a 15-12 team advantage.

Ray Stuart (145) won 3-0, Steve Hartline (155) won 11-4 and Mitch Stein (167) lost 3-2 and 10-2.

Trojans topple Cairo quintet

Coach Larry Graham's Trojan cagers came off a two-week rest Friday night to edge host Cairo 77-73, led by 33 points tallied by Senior Randall Jones.

Madison High, now with a 3-0 record, had not seen action since Nov. 26.

Madison maintained a one-point lead over the Pilots at the conclusion of each of the first three quarters, 20-19, 34-33 and 40-39 and was leading by two with six seconds to play in the final quarter when Cairo threatened to send the contest into overtime with a field goal attempt.

Trailing 75-73, Cairo brought the ball down court and passed to Barry Snow under the basket for a game-tying attempt which was blocked by Trojan Ron Williams.

Williams was fouled by Snow and sank both free throws to tie the win for Madison.

Each team put 33 goals through the net. Madison held the edge from the charity stripe, 11-7.

The Trojans committed the most fouls, 19-15, but had the fewest turnovers, 16-27. Rebounding was even at 39 each.

Venice High School evened its season record at one loss and one win Saturday night at East St. Louis Assumption High, beating the Pioneers 75-53 in a contest which saw seven Red Devils provide points.

Coach Richard Essington's Venice squad had opened the season with a 90-69 loss at St. Paul of Highland on Nov. 23 and had not seen further action until Saturday.

Venice led 13-3, 35-20 and 53-27 at the quarters. The Devils made 31 of 68 field goal attempts to Assumption's 22 goals. From the charity stripe, Venice sank 13 of 19 attempts and the Pioneers hit nine of 16.

Venice committed 16 fouls, one more than the hosts, and controlled the boards with 33 rebounds.

Ron Salmond, a 6-4 sophomore, provided 29 points for Venice, taking under-the-basket passes from ballhandler Ed Fleig.

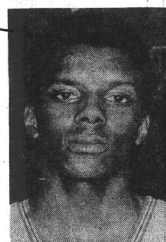

Salmond also led the rebounding with 17 — six offensive and 11 defensive.

Salmond was instrumental in holding the Pioneers to only three points in the first period with blocked shots and pass interceptions.

Scoring also for Venice were Larry Arnold 16, J.L. Williams 10, Ricky Salmond 40, Fleig six and Reggie Mathas and Don Gardner, two points each.

BRYAN BUNJAN

Bunjan playing ice hockey at Northern

Granite City's Bryan Bunjan has landed a starting spot on the Northern Illinois University (DeKalb) ice hockey team as a freshman, joining the squad after eight years of amateur ice hockey experience.

A 1996 graduate of GCHS South, where he lettered four seasons in football, Bunjan began his ice hockey career at the age of 10 with a local team and then joined the St. Louis Rainbow Rockets in competition around the country and in Canada.

He played with the Rockets for seven seasons before joining the St. Louis Blue Flames, a team that captured regional and sectional titles before bowing to a Wisconsin team in a national championship contest. Bunjan scored 45 goals for the Flames that season.

South top seeded in volleyball

GCHS South and Edwardsville have received top seedings for next month's Illinois High School Association district girls' volleyball tournament, to be held at Staunton High School Jan. 11, 12, 13 and 14.

With eight schools potentially listed to participate, Coach Wilma Schulze's Warriors are seeded first and Edwardsville second.

Others entered include Bethalto, Staunton, Wood River and Roxana.

Two sub-district contests are slated at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 5, with the victors advancing into the Staunton meet. Madison plays at Alton and Venice at GCHS North.

The Alton-Madison game winner advances against South High at 4:17 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 11. The North-Venice winner plays Edwardsville at 8 p.m. Jan. 12.

Other first-round contests at Staunton include Bethalto vs. Staunton at 8 p.m. Jan. 11, and Wood River vs. Roxana at 7 p.m. Jan. 12.

Semifinal contests are set for 7 and 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 13. The district championship game will be played Saturday, Jan. 15, at 7:30 p.m., with the victor advancing to sectional play Jan. 18.

Supersession competition will be Jan. 25, and the state finals Jan. 28 and 29.

After three games this far this season with the Huskies, Bunjan is the second leading scorer with four goals and three assists.

In the opening game of the season against the University of Wisconsin, he scored a "hat trick" (three goals).

Seize marijuana, arrest 2 youths

Michael L. Blattner, 18, of 2415a Benton St., was charged with possession of marijuana and a 16-year-old boy was charged with disorderly conduct and faces possible juvenile charges after police alleged finding the boys rolling a marijuana cigarette in the 3000 block of Madison Avenue, near Granite City High School South, at 7:20 a.m. Friday.

Officers alleged finding the juvenile holding a bag of marijuana and Blattner rolling a cigarette when they were arrested.

They were searched and police alleged finding five plastic bags containing marijuana in Blattner's possession and the juvenile having another bag of marijuana. A marijuana pipe also was found, it was alleged.

Police said the marijuana seized totaled 27½ grams plus the cigarette Blattner was holding. Blattner's bond was set at $2,500 and he was released on his own recognizance. The juvenile was released on $25 bond to meet with juvenile authorities.

OATH was estimated at between $20,000 and $50,000 by OATH board members.

Lockhart said service would be provided locally for four areas—mentally ill, drug addicted, developmentally disabled and alcoholics, not just one or two programs.

He further said there are no assurances that funds from the state would be forthcoming in the operation of a local mental health board.

Lockhart said that in some areas in Illinois where there is no county 708 board, townships have joined together and formed one. "But I know of no city that has a 708 board, even though the law allows the formation and taxing following passage of a referendum," he commented.

Avery Schermer, president of OATH, Inc., said, "The County 708 Board is not receptive to local needs."

In this way, he said, the city can take, other than going to court or forming one own 708 board? The majority of the Madison County 708 Board is anti-OATH."

Lockhart noted that a 708 board does not have to give money to any organization if it does not want to do so.

He suggested that the mayors of disaffected cities meet with the 708 board and County Board members and apply political pressure, or form a Venice Township board which basically would take in the entire Quad-City area.

Milton Morris, founder of OATH, Inc., objected, stating that city governments are more responsive to the public.

Morris voiced his opinion that Specialized Services in Granite City is "doing nothing but custodial work, having the people coloring and cutting out dolls."

"They (Specialized Services) are experts at filling out forms and getting money for large state salaries," he said.

Morris alleged that OATH is client-oriented not staff-oriented and that $600,000 in a $45,000 budget went to support a facility in Alton, with the assumption by many that grant services were being provided in a facility located in Granite City. Morris alleged that the city's salary is not equal.

Morris said that OATH cannot operate for more than two months without funding of some type.

Lockhart noted that 70 percent of the money provided to the State of Illinois Mental Health Department goes into the operation of 28 state institutions.

The possibility of going to a "home rule" city was mentioned by Lockhart, but he said there are numerous problems with this type of government operating mental health facilities.

Broadcasting

The Chicago Educational Television Association began operating WTTW (Channel 11) in 1965 and WXXW (Channel 20, UHF) in 1965.

These educational stations were supplemented by WILL-TV from the University of Illinois and WSU-TV, Southern Illinois University.

WTTW established an extensive series of community college teaching programs over its facilities.

Based on the record of this and other successes, an expansion of educational TV in other parts of the state is presently in the planning stage including the area served by SIUE.

Throughout these years, Illinois has been a center of production for radio and TV receivers.

Paul Galvin of Motorola pioneered the car radio.

Marvin Camroz of Armour Institute contributed innovations which led to the tape-recorder, a revolution in the communications industry.

Zenith, Motorola, Admiral and Hallarders are based in the state's industrial prominence.

Thus, Illinoisans have been inventors, stars, producers and innovators in the field of broadcasting as befits, perhaps, a state located at the crossroads of the nation.

Because the always find it difficult to precisely observe political boundaries, it has been the federal government rather than the state which has played the most significant regulatory role.

Festival

more than $100,000 is anticipated in contributed income toward the 1977 MRF season goal of $164,000.

The MRF was organized in October 1968 by SIUE and the St. Louis Symphony Society.

The Festival has been managed by the university for the past two seasons. Attendance records were set in 1975, and the corporation completed the year with a small profit.

Attendance declined in 1976, and the Festival owes the university $104,874 for various expenses, in addition to $70,665 owed to non-university vendors.

Meanwhile, Lyne Ward, general manager of the Festival, said he has received tentative approval of a grant from the MRF, which would give MRF, Inc. a total of $28,000 in assets to begin making partial payments of money owed to external vendors.

University officers said they believe the development of a seasonal, summer-type performing arts program by the university is consistent with the mission and goals of the university "to provide cultural enrichment to enhance the lives of individuals and, more specifically, of the mission and goal of the School of Fine Arts and Communications to serve as the center of the cultural resources of the campus and off-campus communities."

Continuing a statement from university officers said, "The performing arts in the school's mission are especially emphasized through exhibitions, concerts, lectures and theatrical productions. Since the mission of the Mississippi River Festival is almost identical, it is reasonable that the school should assume the responsibilities as indicated."

The steps taken Thursday followed requests from the board to university officers, as the trustees' meeting in November, to propose a restructuring of the River Festival with the objective of continuing the annual series of outdoor music and dance programs on the SIUE campus.

The board also directed, legal officers to pursue an investigation of the university's liability for payment of MRF debts, and the MRF board was encouraged to expand its fund-raising efforts.

Regarding fund raising, it was announced by the MRF general manager that activities for this purpose were launched in November, and currently disgraced Richmond's attorney. He also was accompanied by another person, since he had named three different statements, and there was no evidence linking any of the three to the crime.

Richmond

The jury was asked to carefully consider portions that were repeated in more than one of the statements to police and others—specifically that Miss Kichler approached him with a flashlight, that he took the flashlight away from her, struck her one or more times with it and then set at least one of the fires in her home.

He asked the jury to consider the testimony of two teenagers who said Richmond told them he acted alone in the murder, although he later named them as accomplices in different statements to police.

Trone also emphasized statements made by Richmond when he admitted cutting in the telephone wire to Miss Kichler's house, that he used to police and others he struck her and set at least one fire.

He said the statements were true, Richmond was responsible for Miss Kichler's death under Illinois law, Trone told the jury.

It is the jury's responsibility to convict. It is not the job of the state's attorney, in his office, but the jury's Trone said.

"People ought to be safe in the streets and homes," Miss Kichler's case, in her home," Trone said.

In Lucco's final defense statement, he told the jury there were several conflicting pieces of evidence being cited by the prosecution, particularly those concerning statements about an accomplice.

Lucco said in light of all the differing statements made by Richmond, perhaps the most accurate one would be the statement he made to his teenage girlfriend shortly after the murder.

He cited portions of her testimony in which she said Richmond appeared upset and confessed to her that he and another young man had burglarized the house, and the other youth had beaten Miss Kichler and had turned on Richmond when he attempted to stop the beating.

He testified Richmond told her he fled from the house after the accomplice turned against him, thus leaving prior to the commission of arson or murder.

He contended Richmond's statements used by the police were far too conflicting, and therefore had no credibility.

Lucco also asked the jury to disregard the testimony of the two teenagers who had been named by Richmond as accomplices in his statements. He said their statements that Richmond told them he was alone in the house have no credibility since they were once suspects and it was easy to turn against Richmond after his arrest and after he had named them as accomplices.

The defense attorney also contended the police and prosecution had made mistakes in preparing the case against Richmond.

He said the prosecution made a major point of a spot of blood found on one of Richmond's boots when he was arrested, when he had, in fact, told police he was wearing a pair of zippered shoes when he broke into the house.

There was no attempt made to determine whether Richmond had been wearing those boots in Miss Kichler's house, Lucco contended.

He also said the prosecution had failed to offer any physical evidence linking Richmond directly with the murder scene, relying only upon conflicting statements with no credibility as the foundation to the case against him.

He reminded jurors of testimony from the court's psychologist which indicated Richmond had a low intelligence quotient (IQ), and has difficulty expressing himself and understanding others. He also asked the jury to remember Richmond has just turned 18 years of age.

In rebuttal, Trone called some of the defense arguments "nit-picking" and said the state had prepared a solid case through good, thorough police work.

He said a lack of physical evidence directly linking Richmond to the murder scene was, in part, the result of the damage to the house caused by the fire. As an example, he said fingerprints were found in the house, but they could not be identified because they had been damaged by smoke.

He contended Richmond's first statement to police, in which he vividly described many pieces of furniture and their location in the house before ever being taken there by police, was strong evidence he had been in the house.

Referring to Lucco's statement that Richmond may not have been wearing boots during the murder, Trone said the presence of blood on one boot was important and that the blood was of the same blood type as Miss Kichler's and different from Richmond's blood type.

Trone contended Richmond's naming three other young men as having participated in the murder was only an attempt to keep Richmond from having to accept the full blame himself.

The closing statements and rebuttal were followed by instructions to the jury by Circuit Judge William Beatty who reviewed points of law relating to the case and the specific charges.

Beatty also told the jury they could find Richmond guilty of any of the charges if they found he played a role in the crime, even if not directly involved.

He said even if the jury believed there was another person involved who was the principal offender but has not been prosecuted, they still could find Richmond guilty as an accomplice.

If the jury believes Richmond acted without aid from participation in the burglary prior to the commission of the murder and around they could find him innocent of those charges, Beatty said.

The jury was dismissed for deliberations at 11:30 a.m. Thursday. They recessed for lunch from 12:20 until 1:30 p.m., and then resumed deliberations until reaching the verdicts at 3:30 p.m.

Judge Beatty ordered a post-sentence investigation of Richmond's background and set the sentencing date for Jan. 14, unless the verdicts are appealed.

Clubs place memorial at Scott Base

With the cooperation of personnel at Scott Air Force Base, the clubs of District V Garden Clubs of Illinois, dedicated a "blue star marker" at the base last week in spite of the first snowfall of the season.

The ceremony, held indoors, began with presentation of colors by Scott's color guard. Mrs. Arthur Buesch, District V vice-chairman, gave an introduction, followed by the invocation by the Rev. James Fummeier. Mrs. Buesch gave the welcoming address and presented the marker to Scott Air Force Base.

The wing commander, Col. Hubert Diamond, gave the acceptance speech. Mrs. Stephen Shea of Belleville, state and district blue star memorial chairman for 17 years, told the history of the marker. It is the garden clubs' way of paying tribute to the armed forces that have defended the United States.

After the ceremony, part of the group went out to unveil the marker. Mrs. Henry Heberer of Mascoutah placed a wreath at the base of the marker.

During the period of May to September 1976, in celebration of the U.S. Bicentennial, historic areas were visited by caravans formed in each of the seven Illinois club districts. A blue star marker was placed on each historic trail.

Christmas story in drama at Tri-City Park

The Solid Rock (youth choir) will present "A Night to Remember" at Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church, 2501 Clark Ave., beginning at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday under direction of the Rev. Don Stratton, minister of music.

The story is about a mother telling her child the story of Christmas. She says if we are very quiet, maybe we can hear the angels singing now. The whole Christmas story is then brought to life, Rev. Stratton said.

The youth choir made two tours last summer and Rev. Stratton is making plans for another exciting year for them in 1977. They have performed in some of the areas churches, he said.

The Rev. J. Albert Calaway, pastor, has invited the public to attend the presentation. On Dec. 19 at 7 p.m., the church will present an adult musical presentation, "The Last Christmas," Rev. Stratton said, it is a dramatic musical drama of the Second Coming of Christ. The Tri-City Park Adult Choir will be featured in the drama.

CHRISTMAS SUPPER

United Presbyterian Women of the Mitchell church will hold their annual Christmas potluck supper at the home of Laura Beth Wittkamp, 805 E. Chain of Rocks Road, tonight at 6:30. All women of the church are being invited. Small gifts will be exchanged.

The Mitchell Presbyterian Church will hold its Sunday school Christmas program Sunday, Dec. 19, at 7 p.m.

BURGLARY ON STATE

A $250 stereo with four speakers and nine tape recordings were stolen from the home of Howard Templeman, 2312 State St., between noon and 4 p.m. Friday. The north basement window was kicked in and the items were stolen from a basement bedroom. The door between the basement and main floor was locked and entry to the main floor was not gained.

COMPUTER PERM. Susan Davis, left, receives one of the first computer-type permanent waves using the new senior perm equipment from Mrs. Carlene Miller, co-owner of Carlene and Helen's Hair Fashions, 2264 State St. The advanced electronic system is programmed by the hairdresser to monitor and control perm processing regardless of an individual's hair type. Over-and-under processing of bleached and badly damaged hair is eliminated with the Revlon-Realistic system.

Pass forged checks

Checks stolen from the purse of Cheryl Clark, 3869 Rodney Drive, Apt. 4, Nov. 26, have been forged and cashed at at least two locations, police were told at 2:45 p.m. Friday.

Cheryl Clark, an employee of American Handicrafts in Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, recalled an attractive young woman came into the store and was granted permission to use the washroom in the rear of the store. After the woman left, the victim discovered her wallet and the checks had been taken from her purse in the back room.

Checks for $50 and $40 were cashed at the Kroger Food Store in Cahokia and another check of a yet undetermined amount was cashed at Colonial National Bank of Granite City.

Yule concert on Dec. 19

There will be a special Christmas concert at Mt. Nebo Missionary Baptist Church, 800 Jefferson St., Madison, Sunday, Dec. 19, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Clyde Thompson of Chesterfield, Mo., will be guest director of the chorus after being invited by the Rev. Jerome Jackson, pastor of the church. The concert is open to the public.

WOMAN'S PURSE STOLEN. Mary Edwards, 1315 Madison Ave., was walking behind a building at 18th and State streets at 1:20 a.m. Saturday when two youths came out of an alley, grabbed her purse and ran toward Grand Avenue. The purse contained no money, but there was a revolver inside. Some of her belongings were later recovered in the 1700 block of Grand Avenue, but the gun is missing.

Christmas play at Wilson School

A Christmas play performed by the sixth grade pupils of Mrs. Carla Burns will highlight the Dec. 21 meeting of Wilson Parent-Teacher Association, starting at 7 p.m.

Plans for the annual Yuletide program were reviewed at a PTA executive board session at the school last week. Mrs. Dorothy Baker, president, was in charge.

Mrs. Diane Dettwiler announced orders will be accepted through Jan. 15 for the school's second annual yearbook, to be delivered in May. Cost of each copy is $2.60, she said.

Room mothers will entertain the children at parties on Wednesday, Dec. 22, and Santa Claus has been invited to make a brief appearance at the school, Mrs. Marie Powell noted.

In a PTA membership contest, a total of 235 members was enrolled for 1976-77 school year.

Mrs. Baker advised. The second grade students of Mrs. Fawntreba Pyrtle had 100 per cent participation and received a $15 gift certificate as the contest winners, she said.

PTA families will be asked to save wrappers and labels from several commercial products and deliver them to school, it was decided.

Others at the board meeting were Nancy Nemeth, Mary Jane Wasylyk, Louise Moad, Barbara Moniz, Phyllis Geske, Becky Lipchik and Principal Ted Vrenick.

STEAL RADIO

A $189 citizens' band radio was stolen from the pickup of a 20-year-old man, 2004 Harris St., Madison, parked on the Granite City bluest bluffs parking lot between 7:20 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

New concepts explored in teacher education at SIUE

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Mon., Dec. 13, 1976 Page 16

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Changing economic conditions and declining enrollment in public schools, reducing the need for more and more new teachers, are among the factors causing the School of Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to shift emphasis in several areas of instruction, Dr. Don Carver, head of the SIUE department, recently said.

Programs and curricula for teachers, counselors and school administrators at the undergraduate and postgraduate levels at SIUE continue to be evaluated, reassessed and emphasis redirected in areas where a need for change is found, Dr. Carver stated.

"While financial conditions in public school systems are directly related to declining enrollment," he explained, "the picture is not quite as clear at the higher education level."

"Undergraduate students may be fewer in a given year, but the universities still pick up many graduate students. Therefore, the declining enrollment trend is not quite as directly tied to a specific year in which the number of children is born, as is obvious in the public schools," Dean Carver pointed out.

Teacher Corps and Teacher Centers are among the new concepts in education launched to counteract changing conditions. Both are receiving substantial attention and support from the SIUE School of Education, it was learned.

"This university is a young institution and throughout its history has been in a growth period for all higher education," Dr. Carver said. "In the last couple of years, among the major concerns of our staff are just what the declining enrollment in public schools means in terms of higher education."

Dr. Carver continued, "This time (present) may be termed a period of consolidating and reassessing in the School of Education—the first chance we've had to sit back, take a look at ourselves and see what the resources and needs are in this area."

"The School of Education's growth like that of the university was quick and, for a time, economic needs overshadowed other things."

"The school has done very well, consistently turning out quality teachers, counselors and school administrators, largely for public schools," he stressed.

Dr. Carver explained the new programs in the School of Education essentially focus on personnel—a shift away from the traditional pre-service training of new teachers to in-service programs and expansion of continuing educational opportunities for working teachers.

"The need for more and more teachers has lessened with the public school enrollment declining and because of changing economic factors, there is not the pressure to turn out large numbers of teachers as before," the SIUE educator said.

"For the first time in many years, this school has been afforded an opportunity to assess the quality of existing programs and the continuing education mission of the School of Education, he said.

"As we see it now, the need is not to supply large numbers of new people, but to improve education. I believe the most important new emphasis is the continuing education mission to improve the quality of instruction," Dr. Carver said.

"The concern of the School of Education and the university will continue to be high quality instruction," the department head stated, noting the first doctoral program to be offered on the SIUE campus is in education.

"This is an important step for faculty and students. The doctoral program will use doctors and professors from all areas of campus," he said.

In discussing further the new concepts being applied by SIUE's School of Education, Dr. Carver and Don Baden, director of the SIUE Department of Elementary Education reviewed the Teacher Corps Program started last year in the Madison School District, involving kindergarten through sixth grade.

"The major thrust of the program is professional development or continuing education," Dr. Carver said, commenting that participation by the district staff is not mandatory.

Prior to the program being initiated, the SIUE representatives met with Madison teachers to identify their needs.

"Once these needs were identified, we provided the services, instruction and material," he said.

Originally, the Teacher Corps was designed to get more pre-service trained people to work in areas which couldn't get qualified teachers, Dr. Carver explained. It has since evolved into a program offering in-service training to working faculty members.

Another aspect of the Teacher Corps Program is to promote and encourage ideas through which the schools and community work more closely together.

Madison has an extensive volunteer program of about 100 people now helping in the schools," Dr. Baden said. "Many junior high kids are involved," he added.

Dr. Baden noted about 95 percent of the teachers in Madison are involved in the program. "Of the 95 percent, at least 60 percent are extremely involved," he commented.

"According to word we received prior to the start of the current school year from the Madison administrators, the program already has had a major impact in the district," Dr. Carver said.

"The attitude and approach of the teachers this year is different. They feel they can learn and teach better and are excited about the coming school year," Dr. Carver said, quoting a Madison administrator.

"This probably is the most rewarding aspect of the program," the SIUE educator remarked.

Dr. Carver said, "The SIUE interns also work in the Madison School District. All have bachelor degrees, but not in education, and all are working toward their teacher certification, it was explained.

The interns recently devised an instruction program in the metric measuring system and, using the concept, it's never too late to learn," they offered a workshop in metrics to the

Prior to the program being initiated, the SIUE representatives met with Madison teachers to identify their needs.

"Once these needs were identified, we provided the services, instruction and material," he said.

Originally, the Teacher Corps was designed to get more pre-service trained people to work in areas which couldn't get qualified teachers, Dr. Carver explained. It has since evolved into a program offering in-service training to working faculty members.

Another aspect of the Teacher Corps Program is to promote and encourage ideas through which the schools and community work more closely together.

Madison has an extensive volunteer program of about 100 people now helping in the schools," Dr. Baden said. "Many junior high kids are involved," he added.

Dr. Baden noted about 95 percent of the teachers in Madison are involved in the program. "Of the 95 percent, at least 60 percent are extremely involved," he commented.

"According to word we received prior to the start of the current school year from the Madison administrators, the program already has had a major impact in the district," Dr. Carver said.

"The attitude and approach of the teachers this year is different. They feel they can learn and teach better and are excited about the coming school year," Dr. Carver said, quoting a Madison administrator.

"This probably is the most rewarding aspect of the program," the SIUE educator remarked.

Dr. Carver said, "The SIUE interns also work in the Madison School District. All have bachelor degrees, but not in education, and all are working toward their teacher certification, it was explained.

The interns recently devised an instruction program in the metric measuring system and, using the concept, it's never too late to learn," they offered a workshop in metrics to the

among the major concerns of our staff are just what the declining enrollment in public schools means in terms of higher education."

Dr. Carver continued, "This time (present) may be termed a period of consolidating and reassessing in the School of Education—the first chance we've had to sit back, take a look at ourselves and see what the resources and needs are in this area."

"The School of Education's growth like that of the university was quick and, for a time, economic needs overshadowed other things."

"The school has done very well, consistently turning out quality teachers, counselors and school administrators, largely for public schools," he stressed.

Dr. Carver explained the new programs in the School of Education essentially focus on personnel—a shift away from the traditional pre-service training of new teachers to in-service programs and expansion of continuing educational opportunities for working teachers.

"The need for more and more teachers has lessened with the public school enrollment declining and because of changing economic factors, there is not the pressure to turn out large numbers of teachers as before," the SIUE educator said.

"For the first time in many years, this school has been afforded an opportunity to assess the quality of existing programs and the continuing education mission of the School of Education, he said.

"As we see it now, the need is not to supply large numbers of new people, but to improve education. I believe the most important new emphasis is the continuing education mission to improve the quality of instruction," Dr. Carver said.

"The concern of the School of Education and the university will continue to be high quality instruction," the department head stated, noting the first doctoral program to be offered on the SIUE campus is in education.

"This is an important step for faculty and students. The doctoral program will use doctors and professors from all areas of campus," he said.

In discussing further the new concepts being applied by SIUE's School of Education, Dr. Carver and Don Baden, director of the SIUE Department of Elementary Education reviewed the Teacher Corps Program started last year in the Madison School District, involving kindergarten through sixth grade.

"The major thrust of the program is professional development or continuing education," Dr. Carver said, commenting that participation by the district staff is not mandatory.

Prior to the program being initiated, the SIUE representatives met with Madison teachers to identify their needs.

NEW MEASUREMENTS using the metric system are explained in a workshop for Silver Bells Senior Citizens James Harris, center, and Carl W. Riley. Miss Jacque Engbert, an instructor from the SIUE Teacher Corps which is operating in the Madison School District, is at left. In-service training for working teachers and Teachers' Center exchange ideas and stimulate intellectual growth also are a vital part of SIUE's School of Education program.

Silver Bells Senior Citizen organization of Madison-Venice, Dr. Carver said.

The workshop proved successful and the senior residents heard about such forms of metric measurements as linear, area, volume, weight and temperature, using a "hands on" approach in which active participation and handling of materials for measurement form the core of the learning process.

SIUE interns assigned to the Madison School District, who originated and taught the four week workshop, are Jacques Engbert, Earline McCormick, Willie Ivory and Earline Wilson under the supervision of Sara Pope.

Similar workshops are being offered by the interns to other interested persons, who may call the Teacher Corps office at Harris School, 877-6864, for further details.

When SIUE's part in the Madison School District project has concluded in May 1977, most of the projects and ideas will still remain and be carried on by the faculty, Dr. Baden said.

Also geared to encourage the further educational growth of teachers, principals and school administrators, thereby benefiting their students, is the SIUE Teachers' Center Project. Dr. Thomas C. O'Brien, director of the Teachers' Center, said the project is a new concept in education at SIUE, pioneered the concept of Teachers' Centers in the United States.

Dr. O'Brien explained the project has three basic aspects—continuing education, offering the opportunity to teachers to meet together and share ideas, and the intellectual development of children.

"The centers intellectually stimulate and offer growth opportunities to persons in education," Dr. O'Brien said.

"Centers are nurtured in a local setting, rather than directed from the campus, and are started in communities by teachers themselves," he said.

The Teachers' Center Project began in 1972 as an informal get-together of teachers interested in improving what they were doing in their classrooms. It has evolved, with funding from the Louis D. Beaumont Foundation, the National Science Foundation and the State of Illinois, to the present three teachers' centers in this area, Dr. Carver stated.

Additionally, because of the visits of educators to this area, the project has given rise to other teachers' centers across the United States and in Canada, Dr. Carver stated.

Current centers, open to all teachers, are located at the Belleville Area Teachers' Center, 25 S. 9th St., Belleville; River Bluffs Teachers' Center, Glen Carbon School; and St. Louis Area Teachers' Center, New City School, Waterman at Lake, St. Louis.

At all three centers teachers meet informally one afternoon or evening each week. "The general interest is intellectual development, chiefly in mathematics and lately science and language," Dr. O'Brien said.

"The meetings are informal, organic, grassroots, continuing, collaborative work sessions by teachers working under the general umbrella of Plagiarist research," he explained.

Dr. O'Brien hoped that educators involved in the Teachers' Centers will construct a philosophical framework within which to work both intellectually and professionally.

"To familiarize professionals with developmental, research and educational alternatives, the centers provide a resource library of books, journals, videotapes and films concerned with children's cognitive development," Dr. O'Brien said.

An additional aspect of the Teachers' Center operation, the project sponsors guest lectures and short workshops by nationally and internationally known leaders in mathematics, science, education and psychology, particularly that concerned with the intellectual growth of children.

These events, by bringing together formal researchers and practitioners, help to close the gap that often exists between two groups," Dr. O'Brien explained.

"The visitors 'drop in' at a meeting at a center and drop ideas on those attending," he said. Since the centers started between 50 and 60 people in the frontiers of their profession have been guests.

Among the notable speakers who have taken part in sessions at the local area centers are: Harold Chipman, researcher in psychology; The Jean Piaget Institute, University of Geneva, Switzerland; Professor Dr. Hans Freudenthal, director, The Instituut Ontwikkeling Wiskunde Onderwijs and former president of The International Commission on Mathematical Instruction.

Dora E. Whittaker, chairman, Mathematics Committee of Schools Council, and E. A. Orsborn, O.B.E., head teacher, Julian's Primary School, both of London.

Professor Kevin Collis, University of Newcastle, New South Wales, Australia; Dr. Hansel Whitney, School of Mathematics, The Institute for Advanced Study; Dr. Robert Karplus, director, Science Curriculum Improvement Study and professor of physics, University of California at Berkeley; and Professor Irving Sigel, senior research psychologist and director of the Child Care Research Center, Educational Testing Service.

The latest distinguished visitor was Dr. Marion Walter, a staff member of Harvard University Medical School, a geometry researcher and author of several children's books, including "Annette" and "Make a Bigger Puddle, Make a Smaller Worm."

Dr. Walter conducted informal problem solving sessions for area educators earlier this month at the River Bluffs Teachers' Center and met with parents at an Edwardsville church in a program co-sponsored by the Edwardsville School District and the Montessori Child Development Center.

The topic of both sessions was visual thinking. Dr. Walter, a consultant on education for the United Nations Development Program, is the creator of Mirror Cards used with her books, which children use to make an illustration of strange creatures look like a rabbit, cat or something from their own imagination.

With the cards, a youngster can put more or fewer fish in a tank; turn halves into wholes; and make four daisies out of two. She believes in using visual approaches in teaching informal mathematics and has developed other curriculum material using a visual tactile approach to many mathematical concepts.

"Such work appeals to a wide range of children of diverse abilities and talents," she explained.

Dr. Walter designed the Mirror Cards while working for the Elementary Science Study of the Education Development Center. The cards are used in many schools throughout the United States.

In addition, Dr. Walter has taught mathematics at New York University, Cornell University and at Simmons College in Boston, where she set up the mathematics major program.

For two years she was on the advisory committee to the producers of television's "Sesame Street," but does not altogether subscribe to many of the program's visual effects.

"Sometimes I think we over-emphasize numbers," the mathematics expert said.

Dr. Walter has been a guest at SIUE on previous occasions and has conducted other workshops here for educators.

Dr. O'Brien said, "Marion goes away but her ideas stay behind," noting that this is one of the basic purposes of the Teachers' Centers.

A total of 52 papers dealing with center projects and programs has been published and are available to educators nationwide at cost, Dr. O'Brien said.

He stressed again the Teachers' Center concept is to improve education and change the quality of instruction by intellectually stimulating educators and presenting them new ideas.

Between 25 and 30 educators visiting the SIUE centers have returned to their home area and started similar centers, Dr. O'Brien said.

All educators are encouraged to attend the programs at an existing center and decide if their educational community is capable of supporting its own, he commented.

Each department in the SIUE School of Education continues to impart the traditional, fundamental premises of basic teaching.

But its new approaches to educating educators seem more realistic in view of today's rapid changes within schools and people.

Reorganizing emergency medical service council

Thomas Weiler, M.D., of the Emergency Department of St. John's Mercy Medical Center, has been elected interim president of the St. Louis Area Regional Emergency Medical Service Council, the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency reported Friday.

The Emergency Medical Service Council met this month in the St. Louis County Council chambers to discuss reorganization. An executive steering committee was appointed to develop plans for reorganizing the council in the next 90 days and to develop an annual work program for the council.

Appointed to the steering committee are: Robert Grimsaw of the Bureau of Emergency Medical Services of the Missouri Division of Health; Allen Klippel, M.D.; Gary Paganini, managing director of Safety Council of Greater St. Louis; Leo Painter, North County Fire Dispatching; Jerry Schwartz, planning associate with the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency; and Robert Wheeler, Ph.D.

The executive steering committee will meet in the coming months to discuss a specific direction for the reorganized EMS Council and to develop a slate of officers. Purpose of the council is to provide a forum for discussion and active coordination of emergency medical services, including ambulance service, communications, dispatching, training of technicians, and hospitals providing services in emergency medicine.

Membership is open to residents of the bi-state metropolitan area. Interested citizens—providers and consumers alike—may direct comments or membership inquiries to the chairman of the group, Dr. Weiler, at St. John's Mercy Hospital, 415 New Ballas Road, St. Louis 63141.

The Quad-City area is within the direct Health Systems Agency jurisdiction. Because of the disparity between Army Engineers' findings and the state government's alternative plan, Gravel asked the GAO to evaluate costs and technical feasibility. A decision on whether to repair or replace Locks and Dam 26 may be made by Congress during 1977.

Eisel calls Alton dam repair feasible

The U.S. Government Accounting Office report on Alton Locks and Dam No. 26 substantiates the Illinois Department of Transportation's evaluation that improvement of locks at the existing dam site is feasible, in the opinion of Leo Eisel, director of the Illinois Division of Water Resources. In a set of comments submitted to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the DOT proposed construction of a steel sheet piling lock through the existing dam. The department submitted its comments in response to the Corps' request that Illinois evaluate the Corps plan.

Eisel said, "The work outlined in our evaluation would cost approximately $60 million, and would require about two and a half years to construct, as compared with the Corps proposal for replacement of the existing locks and dam which would cost about $400 million and take more than eight years to complete."

The GAO report states that the Illinois DOT alternative is feasible, involves no unusual construction procedures, has a design life of 50 years, and is functionally equivalent to the Corps' plan.

The Corps advocates replacement of the existing locks and dam with new structures to be located two miles downstream in the Mississippi River.

Eisel noted that the GAO added $92 million to the DOT estimate for extensive rehabilitation of the existing dam, engineering, design and other contingencies "which could result in a $182 million expenditure."

"This additional amount is contingent upon a further study of the facilities by the GAO. This study has been requested by the U.S. Senate Public Works Committee because the necessity for extensive rehabilitation is still in question," Eisel said.

The GAO report stems from a study requested by Sen. Mike Gravel (D, Alaska), chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Water Resources. Because of the disparity between Army Engineers' findings and the state government's alternative plan, Gravel asked the GAO to evaluate costs and technical feasibility.

A decision on whether to repair or replace Locks and Dam 26 may be made by Congress during 1977.

Lease plan criticized

A proposal for Edwardsville Community Unit School District No. 7 to lease 40 acres of land from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for development of an athletic and recreational complex was presented to the SIU Board of Trustees Thursday.

Trustees agreed to take under consideration the proposal, which was presented by District Superintendent Jack Will, but several members of the board expressed reservations concerning the plan.

Chairman Ivan A. Elliott Jr. said the proposal will be studied carefully because it may be contrary to the original land use intent when SIUE was established. He said the leader, if granted, could "open the door" to any other school or municipal corporation in the area to make similar proposals.

Sтивен Sanders, president of the SIUE University Senate, pointed out that the proposal has not been studied by the Senate's committee on the environmental impact of development of the campus. He said the committee has urban planning, environment use and other experts who can be consulted concerning the matter.

Elliott also said he would like for SIUE's new president, Kenneth A. Shaw, who will officially begin his duties Jan. 17, to examine the proposal before a decision is made.

The land for the proposed athletic-recreational area is located on the west side of Highway 157, south of the east entrance to SIUE from Highway 157.

According to the community school officials, the complex would be used for practice, competitive games and recreational athletics for girls and boys sports programs. The facilities would be made available to the community to accommodate American Legion and Little League baseball, football, soccer and softball programs. SIUE also would be permitted to utilize the development.

A building proposed on the site would include boys' and girls' locker room facilities, restrooms for public use, concession stands, a storage area and press box.

Bleachers and lights would be moved to the complex from the existing athletic field at Edwardsville High School, providing additional space at the high school for physical education teaching stations.

Hunter said the proposed complex is an outgrowth of recommendations made by a citizens' advisory council in March 1975. The council recommended development of a sports annex containing three baseball diamonds, six tennis courts, a quarter-mile track, football game and practice fields, soccer field, girls' athletic field, softball diamonds and parking.

Aptitude test Dec. 21 for GC South seniors

Students at Granite City High School South will be given a chance to test their aptitudes for different career fields this month, according to local Army recruiter, Staff Sergeant John Keene.

A special aptitude test, called the Armed Forces Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB), will be administered here by Sgt. Keene and other Armed Services representatives to interested seniors on Tuesday, Dec. 21.

The sergeant explained that the test is designed to measure specific aptitudes relating to certain jobs and career fields, rather than general intelligence or overall ability. The results will definitely help the student, and his or her counselor, in improved job placement.

The test is offered each year to thousands of students in the area as a public service by the military, Sgt. Keene said.

"Although we administer the ASVAB, it is in no way an obligation in regard to military service," the Army recruiter said.

About 2½ hours is required to complete the test battery, which actually is made up of 12 different tests in five aptitude areas — electronics; general mechanical; motor mechanical; clerical-administrative; and general technical.

Results of the test will indicate the probability of success in one of more of these fields by taking into consideration certain skills that are frequently used in the career groups.

School counselors will receive the test results about 30 days after they are given, Sgt. Keene explained.

At the same time, each student participant will receive a pamphlet listing his or her scores along with information how to interpret them, he said.

"Some students may spend many years after leaving school trying to find out what job or career they are best suited for," Sgt. Keene remarked. "This test will give everyone an opportunity to plan for his or her future before graduating."

"Once an individual knows the profession for which he is best suited, he often gains a new spirit of confidence for the future," the local Army recruiter stated.

Further information concerning the ASVAB test program may be obtained from South High counselors or by contacting Sgt. Keene, 1206 Niedringhaus Ave., 876-9660, or 876-5269.

Nameoki plans series of development projects

The Community Development Committee of Nameoki Township and Pontoon Beach have completed their applications for how they would like to spend about $124,400 in CD grant funds.

Nameoki Township is applying for $95,000 in funds for the 1977-78 fiscal year for five projects.

Being sought are $20,000 for a larger water main to the Cloverleaf Subdivision so fire hydrants can be installed; $35,000 to the Long Lake Fire Department to help construct a new garage building; $5,000 for the State Park Community Center remodeling project; and $25,000 to aid eligible families pay for connections to the proposed new sanitary sewers.

Another $10,000 is being sought in the application for a tornado warning system for the Arlington Heights subdivision, but the township already has been told by the county community development office that CD funds can not be used for that project under guidelines which prohibit the CD funds from being mixed with other federal funds, including Civil Defense funds.

Pontoon Beach advisory committee members have prepared an application for three projects totaling $29,400. The majority will be appropriated toward improvement of a drainage ditch north of Georgetown Drive from Route 111 to Long Lake.

Sought in the new fiscal year is $25,000 for the work. The committee appropriated $7,500 in CD funds the first year of the program and $21,000 in the second year toward the drainage ditch.

It is anticipated with the new $25,000 appropriation, the $2,500 available will be sufficient to complete the project. Also sought are $3,000 for improving Jones Park Road and $1,400 to install safety speed bumps in some subdivisions where speeding motorists are presenting a danger to children.

The township and village also are seeking grants from discretionary funds the county still has not appropriated from the 1976-77 fiscal year. Pontoon Beach is seeking an $8,000 discretionary fund grant to help rehabilitate the housing of low to moderate-income residents.

Nameoki Township has submitted two applications for discretionary funds, one for $35,000 for a down payment on a new State Park Place fire truck, and the other for $25,000 to offer additional aid to persons making connections to the proposed sanitary sewers.

Board will review stand on bargaining

The board of trustees of Southern Illinois University has agreed to reexamine its position on faculty collective bargaining.

The board voted Thursday to request the SIU System Council to recommend at the meeting of the trustees — procedures for a public reexamination of the board's stand on the subject.

Board Chairman Ivan A. Elliott Jr. also received board approval to call an executive session of the trustees to hear selected experts discuss the matter of faculty collective bargaining.

In the same motion, the board voted to cancel its regular January meeting. At the request of the Non-Academic Employees Advisory Council (NAEAC) of SIUE, it will extend the time for consideration of a NAEAC collective bargaining matter which had been scheduled for the board's agenda in January.

Elliott explained that the NAEAC topic was the only major item which had been scheduled for January. Since the NAEAC is requesting additional time before presenting the matter, it would be appropriate to cancel the January meeting, he added.

The board chairman also explained that two recent requests from the SIUE Faculty Organization for Collective Bargaining to make presentations to the board have been denied.

The board has a stated policy on faculty collective bargaining which was announced in May after informational sessions on the subject had been held on each campus, Carbondale and Edwardsville, he said.

Elliott announced in May that unless further action is taken by the trustees, the board will wait for state enabling legislation before giving consideration to recognition of faculty bargaining.

The chairman said the fact that the position will be reexamined is no indication that the position will be changed.

"The purpose is to look again at faculty collective bargaining in light of any change in circumstances which may have occurred since our last review," he said. "We share any additional knowledge which we have been able to obtain, and to listen to any additional information which may be available to us," Elliott commented.

The board chairman said the executive session which will be called will provide an opportunity for trustees to discuss the collective bargaining issue and to hear from legal advisors and other experts regarding legal and other aspects of collective bargaining and possible changes which have developed since the board last met on the subject.

Elliott said he wants the System Council to include in the recommendations presented in February "a timetable on how we should proceed" with consideration of the bargaining question.

Car plunges into lake

Two young men were injured when their auto left the roadway on Lake Drive two-tenths of a mile south of State Aid Route 35 at 1 a.m. Friday and went into Horseshoe Lake.

The driver, Kerry Whitehead, 22, of 2408 E. 24th St., said he swerved right to avoid an oncoming yellow car which appeared to be out of control and when he swerved his car, he lost control. The auto struck a utility pole and went down the embankment into the lake, he said.

A passenger, Jeffrey Perryman, 17, of 2645 E. 24th St., said he did not recall an oncoming car or hitting a utility pole, but said the car swerved over the embankment and into the water.

Both were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital and Whitehead later was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, with possible internal injuries to his abdomen and with abrasions to his knees and head and injuries to his neck, back and left shoulder.

Perryman was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital for observation of a possible head injury. He also suffered abrasions to his left hand and forehead.

Eighty-six attended the awards banquet at the Granite City Army Installation's Officers Club. ESDA Coordinator Victor H. Koenig was in charge of the event.

Remarks were made by Mayor Paul Schuler and William Elsie, coordinator of Illinois ESDA Region 8.

Honored guests were Mayor and Mrs. Schuler, Police Chief Ronald J. Veiser, Fire Chief Don Parente and Mrs. Parente, Street

Superintendent Liopell Portell, and Mrs. Portell, Mrs. William Elsie, Mrs. Victor Koenig, Mr. and Mrs. John (Mildred) Meehan, Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter, Mr. and Mrs. Deason, St. Elizabeth Hospital and Chuck Norman, WGN Radio. Bob Baker served as master of ceremonies.

Also attending were representatives of the local police, fire and street departments, the Bubblemasters Underwater Recovery Team (BURT), the Citizens Band Emergency Radio Team (CBERT) and the Granite City Auxiliary Police.

Bethalto Police Chief Lewis L. Dreith presented an award to the Granite City Auxiliary Police in "appreciation of many years of service at Bethalto homecomings on Labor Day."

Recognition was accorded to top auxiliary police members by Auxiliary Police Chief John Becker.

Named Auxiliary Police Officer of the Year was Captain Don Kershaw, an 11-year veteran. The award is voted to an "outstanding" officer selected by the police unit.

The Chief's Award was received by Sergeant Wilma Lévarit for "volunteering many hours extra duty to help the auxiliary police organization."

Methods to change birth certificates

Adoption, change of name, even change of sex—there are numerous reasons why persons want to change their birth certificates.

A change in such a document is not as hard as it first might seem to be, according to the Illinois State Bar Association.

A native of Illinois may have his or her birth certificate changed when that person supplies the state registrar of vital records of the Illinois Department of Public Health with any of the following:

—A certificate of adoption or a certified copy of the decree of adoption together with the information necessary to identify the original certificate of birth and to establish the new certificate; except that a new certificate cannot be issued if so requested by the court decreeing the adoption, the adoptive parents, or the adopted person.

—A certificate of adoption or a certified copy of the decree of adoption entered in a court of competent jurisdiction of any other state or country declaring adopted a child born in Illinois, together with the information necessary to identify the original certificate cannot be established if so requested by the court decreeing the adoption, the adoptive parents, or the adopted person.

A request that a new certificate be established and such evidence as required by regulation proving that such person has been legitimated, or that a court of competent jurisdiction has determined the paternity of such a person.

An affidavit by a physician that he has performed an operation on a person, and that by reason of the operation the sex designation on such person's birth record should be changed.

The Illinois State Bar Association says that if no certificate of birth is on file for the person for whom a new certificate is to be established, a delayed record of birth must be filed with the state registrar before a new certificate is established.

A delayed record will not be required when the date and place of birth and parentage have been established in the adoption proceedings.

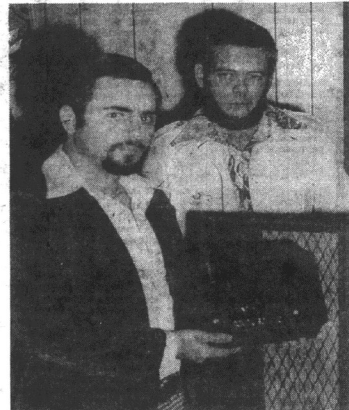

When a new certificate of birth is established by the state registrar, all copies of the original certificate of birth in the custody of any custodian of permanent local records in this state are to be transmitted to the state registrar and sealed from inspection.

'Give a Can' drive in Pontoon Beach

"Give a can for your fellow man" will be the theme of this year's canned goods drive in Pontoon Beach, according to Donald D. Patrick, president of Pontoon Beach Lions Club and director of the Pontoon Beach branch of Co-Ordinated Youth Services, and Sgt. Harold Denham, adult advisor of Pontoon Beach Police Explorer Post 255.

The Pontoon Lions and Explorers will go door to door throughout the community asking citizens to donate cans of food Saturday, beginning at 11 a.m. They will begin their drive in Lakeview Estates, going to Quiet Valley, John Green Meadows, Village Green and ending in the Gaslight Walk Apartments.

The "Give a Can" drive is being promoted by the Lions Club and Explorer Post 255 as a community service project. "We hope to make this a community-involved project," Denham and Patrick explained. "It will be a group effort between the Lions Club, Explorer Post 255, Co-Ordinated Youth Services, local merchants and the community churches."

Special assistance with the donation of Yule baskets will be given by Mrs. Audrey Ribbing, Brownie troop leader 483, of the Festival of Giving program of the Girl Scouts, District 4.

"After the canned goods are gathered by the Lions and Explorers, we will then work with the Co-Ordinated Youth Services and local churches to distribute the Yule baskets to needy families in our community," Patrick said.

Further information may call Pontoon Beach Co-Ordinated Youth Services at 931-2700, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

LOOT, RANSACK HOUSE

A citizens' band radio and microphone, two speakers, a stereo, a color television and some frozen meat were stolen during a burglary at the home of Henrietta Sanders, 2528 Circle Drive, between 7 p.m. and 11 p.m. Friday. Entry was believed gained through a side door which had been left unlocked.

3 more arrested in tavern crackdown

In further efforts to enforce tavern closing hours in Madison, three tavern officials were charged during the weekend with violations of the tavern closing law.

The three arrests followed an arrest at Ralph and Charlie's Restaurant and Lounge in Madison Dec. 5.

At 3:18 a.m. Saturday, Madison officers alleged finding 42 patrons in the El Capalara Lounge, 801 Jackson St., despite a law that all patrons must be out of the tavern by 3 a.m. on weekends. Girtle Ford, a bartender, was charged and released on bond.

At 3:09 a.m. Sunday, police alleged finding four patrons in Jeanette's French Quarter, 925 Grand Ave., and arrested Jeanne DeCunha, the owner, on a charge of violating tavern closing hours.

Within minutes, the owner of Lucy's Lounge, 1415 Fifth St., Madison, Lucille Whiteside, was cited for the same violation after Madison officers alleged finding six patrons in that tavern.

The three persons charged were released on $100 cash bail each, shortly after their arrests. All are to appear in court at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 12.

182 locals in district 34 nominate McBride

An unofficial report Friday from District 34 United Steelworkers of America showed 182 locals nominating Lloyd McBride for USWA president, with nine locals nominating Ed Sanders. Unofficially, the national totals are approximately 4,000 locals nominating McBride and 500 nominating Sadowski, which will mean both slates will appear on the Feb. 8 ballot.

Michigan post for John Davis

John Paul Davis, general counsel of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has announced his resignation from the position, effective today.

Davis has accepted a position as rights advocate administrator for the Department of Mental Health of the State of Michigan. His office will be in Detroit.

In the voting for district director, 182 locals have reported to have voted for Buddy Davis, with seven for Hank Dale. Two locals did not nominate anyone for district director and there are seven elections in protest by local supporters.

Describing the function of his new position, Davis said, "It's a new frontier, from a legal point of view."

A candidate must have nine locals nominate him to appear on the ballot.

Thin ice is dangerous, chief warns

The Long Lake rescue squad was called at 4:35 p.m. Sunday on a report that a man had fallen through the ice on the lake near 4737 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach.

After moving search equipment into place and beginning their search, John Bowman, 20, of 4734 Lake Drive, showed up. Bowman reportedly fell through the ice, but made it to the opposite shore and had to walk around the lake to get home.

Fire Chief C. Arnold Rutherford said, "People do not realize it has not been cold enough and long enough for the ice to get thick. There are some deep spots which are spring fed and they never really freeze safe."

"A young child early in the afternoon fell in, I heard, but he got himself out. I wish there was some way to convince people to stay off the ice. It just is not safe."

Long Lake firemen at 11:20 a.m. Sunday were called to a weed fire near Highway 111 and State 453 after just completing a three-hour practice in the morning.

The announcement was made by Lawrence B. Heitz, executive vice-president of Tubular Steel.

Crown has worked for Tubular Steel for six years. He previously was employed by Granite City Steel as a foreman in the cold strip mill.

Crown and his wife, Beverly, have five children, Brad, Kevin, Bruce, Cathy and Sierra. Crown and his family are members and active in the Second Baptist Church in Granite City.

Pork plentiful, prices lower

There's more ham, bacon and pork chops in retail meat counters these days; pork is back in good supply and at lower prices, according to the pork industry group of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

In recent months, pork production has soared, and prices have declined. It's a favorable situation for consumers," said Verlo Butz, PIG secretary. "Nutritious pork products are now excellent values for food shoppers." He said the good supply-high value outlook is expected to continue for several months and possibly through all of 1977.

Pork production in October was up almost 30 per cent compared to the same period last year; this followed an increase of more than 20 per cent in September. The market price for hogs is currently 17 per cent below a year ago. Wholesale prices have also fallen, and retail prices are starting to reflect those declines, Butz said.

Being remembered by friends and family close to home and far away is one of the special joys of Christmas. This Christmas, remember those you care about with Hallmark cards.

Reopen Johnson Road

Johnson Road, which had been closed to traffic at the Nameki Drainage Ditch for three days, was reopened at 1 p.m. Friday as Granite City Street Department workers concluded replacement of a 15-inch sanitary sewer line under the roadway.

Street Superintendent Lionel Portell explained that an underground gas main, two telephone cables, a water main and a storm sewer line under the road had to be located before the new sanitary line could be placed under them.

The excavation was filled with rock and a temporary blacktop coating was applied Friday. Portell said the road will be concreted after the rock has had an opportunity to settle. It will not be necessary to close Johnson Road for that work, he said.

Center for management

The name of the Business Institute of SIUE was changed to the Center for Management Studies in action Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees, meeting at EIE.

University officers said no additions or alterations to the function of the unit are effected by the redesignation.

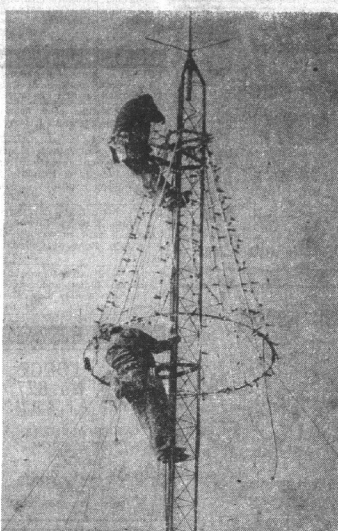

It was stated that the change in title was proposed because "the new title more accurately and suitably describes the unit's orientation to upper management personnel programs."

Officers said the new title will facilitate development of activities in community-oriented, non-credit programs and "will provide the unit with recognition more in keeping with trends at other major universities."

The action was recommended by the University Senate, the School of Business and university administrators.

2nd beauty shop offers 'computer' perms to patrons

Margaret Scott of Cut and Curl Hair Stylist, 9 Nameki Village Shopping Center, has acquired the Realistic Sensor Perm, a new computer-like permanent waving system that produces a perfect perm every time.

Because the advanced electronic system is programmed by the hairdresser to monitor and control perm processing, perming can now be specially customized to the individual patron's hair type and condition.

"Our customers can be assured of perfect perming, every time, and we are proud to be among the first shops to make that promise," Mrs. Scott said.

Cut and Curl is one of the few beauty salons in the metropolitan area offering the new electronic perming service.
